

Financing

Financing an MBA represents a significant personal investment. HEC MBA participants finance their studies through a number of sources, including personal savings, family support, personal loans, bank loans, government grants and scholarships. We recommend that you begin your research as early as possible and that you carefully look into the many opportunities that are available to MBA students. If you have any specific questions or would like some general advice, you may contact your development manager, who can help you obtain the appropriate information.

| Tuition Fees and Estimated Expenses for 16-month HEC MBA Program | |
|---|--|
| Tuition fees : | € 42,000 (non-refundable deposit + two payment installments) |
| Room on campus: | € 8,688 (€543 x 16 months) |
| Books : | € 1,110 |
| Meals : | € 4,000 |
| Miscellaneous : | € 3,000 |
| TOTAL : | €58,798 |

Note that off-campus room and board could be more expensive. It is estimated that a rented room off-campus could cost anywhere between €10,000 and €12,000 for the duration of the 16-month program.

| Tuition Fees for the HEC Part-Time MBA Program | |
|---|---|
| Tuition fees : | € 45,000 (non-refundable deposit + two payment installments) |