

Srivatsan Kalyanasundaram (MBA 2008) – India

An opportunity to take a step back and reflect

An MBA was an opportunity for me to take a step back and reflect on my long-term professional goals and to equip myself with the necessary skill sets to achieve them. HEC provides the perfect setting for doing this – an idyllic campus, excellent faculty, and a very diverse student community. It has also provided an opportunity for my wife to learn French and French culture at a leading school in Paris and my son to be exposed to an international atmosphere at the early age of two. HEC as an investment is, therefore, paying rich dividends not only to me, but to my entire family.
