

Part-Time Program

In response to growing demand for greater flexibility from our program candidates and corporate partners, HEC Paris has launched a Part-Time MBA Program. This option is custom made for managers between the ages of 25 and 35 who want to maintain professional activity while raising their careers to an international level.

Our new Part-Time MBA Program offers a flexible way to boost your leadership potential and career profile in a microcosm of the world, where differences and diversity are valued as core components of learning in business education. This experience will refine your talents, build your character, and render your future more successful and fulfilling.

As Valérie Gauthier, Associate Dean of the HEC MBA Program explains, "understanding the needs of companies and individuals is one of our core missions. Our ambition is to offer high-profile candidates, who want to keep their current jobs, a unique opportunity to boost their careers and personal lives in an international and multicultural environment." The HEC Part-Time MBA is the ideal choice for determined managers with the courage to learn and the ambition to take on leadership responsibilities.
